FROM THE EDITOR

Donald J. Coshey BWS Newsletter Editor 850-834-3328

thirstyred@earthlink.net

Iam Glad to be the Editor for the Newsletter and will try to the the best job for the Squadron. I have set cut off times of the 15th of the month before the Newsletter is finalized.

Cut off for information is as follows:

Sep 15, Dec 15, Mar 15 and Jun 15

Your board during a break at the January meeting. We welcomed two new board members that will help us to better support our missions. Bob Monette, F Troop 1972-1973, Sabre 20, is our new VP of Military and Public Relations and Don Coshey, C Troop, 1965-1966 is our new Program Manager for the website and quartermaster.

From your President

There are several upcoming events that I would like to keep you all in the loop regarding the HEADHUNTER's Redeployment from Iraq to Fort Hood and other Squadron events that will be occurring after their safe return.

- 1. The Squadron uncasing Ceremony at Fort Hood: This ceremony date is still in the works but will probably happen sometime in September.
- 2. The Squadron Homecoming Ball: Now scheduled for 10 November, the details are in development.
- 3. Tentative dedication of an OH-6A in the Squadron area at Fort Hood. We have found one LOH at Fort Rucker that appears to be excess to the Army Aviation Museum's future plans and in coordination with the museum Director and the 1st Cavalry Division's Museum Director there is a goal of transferring this LOH (unfortunately not an original 1-9 CAV aircraft but a 3/4 CAV bird). We have offered to assist in the transfer, painting in correct 1-9 colors, mounting and most any other issue to make it happen by 10 November 2011. If it can happen by then I would like to ask if there may be one or more of our LOH Scout Crew Chiefs and Pilots to paint on the final touches to the crossed sabers and tail number for a part of the dedication. Another dedication with a plaque and 1-9 Cavalry Vietnam information would follow as an event at our 2012 Reunion in October 2012. Lots of moving parts in this attempt to get a representative Scout aircraft to the Squadron and if there are any of you that would like to volunteer please contact me.
- 4. Squadron Change of Command: LTC John Cushing will change Command sometime in November and I encourage any of you that can be there to show our support for the Squadron. The exact date has not been scheduled but we will update in the next newsletter and on the website and email.

In Reunion News there are three reunions scheduled for this year as described on pages 11—17.

Charlie Troop Get Together 2011, AUGUST 2-7 2011, in INDIANAPOLIS, IN. It is being hosted by Lew Robinson.

The 2011 APACHE TROOP REUNION will be 17 - 21 August 2011 in Albuquerque, New Mexico. It is being hosted by Apache 29, Ron Livingston.

Meeting of Warriors, LZ Branson, MO, 13-16 October 2011. Fletcher Beard and Janis Derrington are coordinating this reunion.

I hope that if you are able that you can attend any of these great events to see old buddies and meet friends you may have not seen for 40+ years.

Planning is ongoing for our 2012 Reunion and we will be asking for volunteers to help in the planning and execution of the events. I also would like to get the Troop Commanders and 1st Sergeants more involved in our Reunions and assign Troop tasks (some fun and others not so) for our Fort Hood and 1st Cavalry Reunion next October. As I told Jack Shields (Saber 6) "we would fly into Hell and back with you back then and are still looking for your direction and guidance more than forty years later—so come on in and help call in some fire on our next reunion". The Board does not want to be on the stage and up front at the Reunion and we will all try and make it happen but bottom line, the Reunion is for the Squadron and the Squadron is YOU!

9th U.S Cavalry History, PT II The End of the Indian Wars

By the end of the 19th Century, the Indian Wars were over and the United States stretched from "sea to shining sea" with only Oklahoma, Arizona and New Mexico being territories rather than states.

The fact that hundreds of thousands of settlers could flood into the new land assured of safety from Indians, range wars, and (more or less) outlaws and cattle rustlers from both sides of the Rio Grande, was a direct tribute to the actions of the U.S. Cavalry...particularly the men of the 9th U.S. Cavalry Regiment.

From its beginning in 1866 until the late 1890s, the 9th Cavalry patrolled the southwestern states, primarily opposing the Comanches and Kiowas during the 1970s in Texas, followed by continuous battles with Apache tribes led by Geronimo, Nana and Victorio in New Mexico and Arizona during the period 1879 and 1881, and the Sioux in the 1880s.

According to Lineage and Honors, Department of the Army, the 1st Squadron of the 9th Cavalry Regiment was created on 28 July 1866 as Company A, 9th Cavalry. At that time, there was no formal organization for squadrons in cavalry regiments and a squadron could be two to four companies. However, in 1873, "Upton's Tactics," developed by Brevet Major General Emory Upton for cavalry and artillery, were adopted to correspond to an infantry tactics manual he had published in 1867. This established a cavalry regiment as three squadrons of four companies. In 1883, cavalry companies were officially redesignated as "cavalry troops."

As stated in the March 2011 Bull Whip Squadron newsletter, a squadron consisted of 12 troops...A through M...with no J Troop. According to Mr. David Lemelin of the U.S. Army Military History Institute, J Troop did not exist because paperwork in those days was written out by hand. Because a handwritten "J" tended to look like a handwritten "I", it was decided to skip over the letter "J" when designating companies.

While the 9th Cav. was involved in dozens, if not hundreds, of actions protecting the early settlers in the west, it was also instrumental in saving other cavalry units from destruction (not unlike Operation Pegasus when the 1st Cav., led by 1/9th, went in to save the Marines at Khe Sanh).

In 1879, Troop D, 9th Cavalry, under Capt. Francis Dodge, force marched 70 miles from New Mexico into Colorado to rescue troopers of the 5th Cavalry, under an inexperienced Major Thomas Thornburgh, who had gotten themselves surrounded by Ute Indians of the White River tribe at the valley of the Milk River. Thornburgh and 10 of his troopers were killed. The rest dug in.

Dodge learned of the 5th Cavalry's predicament and made the forced march to their relief, rescuing the 5th Cavalry without the loss of a single trooper.

In 1890, troops D, F, I and K of the 9th Cav. under Major Guy V. Henry were sent to the Pine Ridge Indian Agency in response to growing concern over the Sioux Ghost Dance movement.

The day after the December 29, 1890 Battle (or Massacre) of Wounded Knee by six troops of the 7th Cavalry, a totally inept Colonel James Forsyth led his six troops into a cul-de-sac on White Clay Creek trying to force a reported "several thousand other Sioux warriors" back to the reservation. They were immediately surrounded and, like Custer and five troops of the 7th Cavalry in 1876, faced annihilation.

Bullwhip Squadron Association Newsletter July 2011

Henry and troopers of the 9th Cavalry were called on to rescue Forsyth and his six troops of the 7th Cavalry.

After a forced march to the mouth of the canyon, Henry split his force into two squadrons and sent them in a sweep of both sides of the canyon, supported by a Hotchkiss gun. As the Buffalo soldiers swept through the canyon, the Sioux retreated. "Without losing a man, the buffalo soldiers had recorded one of their most celebrated triumphs," according to Charles L. Kenner, in his "Buffalo Soldiers and Officers of the Ninth Cavalry, 1867-1898".

As a direct result of that rescue, Major Henry was able to convince the Army to assign a troop (Troop K) of the 9th Cav. to serve at Fort Myer in Arlington, VA. This was the first time a black cavalry unit was assigned to a military post in the Washington area.

In 1883-85, elements of the 9th Cav. was deployed in Fort Riley, Kansas, with numerous excursions into Oklahoma Territory to keep settlers, known as Sooners, from moving into the area before it was officially opened in the 1889 Oklahoma Land Rush.

In 1885 it was sent to Wyoming Territory (now South Dakota). From there troops were stationed at Fort Robinson and Fort Niobrara, Nebraska and Fort Duchesne, Utah.

The period 1866 to 1898 also saw the first Medals of Honor going to black troopers. The first black trooper to earn the award was Sergeant Emanual Stance, a small (barely 5 ft. tall) trooper who had been one of the first to join the unit in 1866 at the age of 18. In May, 1870, two children from a settlement near Ft. McKavett in south Texas were kidnapped by Comanches.

Stance was directed to take 10 men from F Troop and attempt to intercept the Comanches and rescue the children. Some 14 miles from the fort, Stance's command came across a band of Indians driving a herd of ten horses. Stance immediately led a charge against the Indians, driving them off and recovering the horses.

He decided to take the horses back to Fort McKavett. However, ten miles from the fort he spotted two government wagons escorted by a small guard. He also spotted about 20 Indians about to ambush the small wagon train. Again he led a charge against the Indians, driving them off and capturing five more horses.

He then returned to the fort with the 15 captured Indian horses. For his actions, he was awarded the Medal of Honor. Evidently the two kidnapped children were totally forgotten and filed under the "Life Sucks" column.

As a footnote, Sgt. Stance was noted by his commanders as a strong disciplinarian...meaning his men learned to hate him. He also drank a lot. On Christmas Eve, 1887, F Troop 1st Sgt. Stance rode into the nearby town of Crawford for a night of "drink, sex and cards." He rode out of town well past midnight, and the next morning his body was found on the road with four gunshot wounds. It was never determined who killed him, but it was generally accepted that it was done by his own men.

Being awarded the Medal of Honor was a rare thing for black cavalry troopers, both in the 9th and the 10th Cavalries. Most actions involving incidents of individual bravery were simply not recorded. When they were recorded, it was normally because the individual trooper had proven his worth as a soldier to a white officer, who then wrote up the action.

An example of this is an action by Lt. John Bullis and four troopers of M troop in August 1871. As cited in Kenner's "Buffalo Soldiers and Officers of the Ninth Cavalry, 1867-1898," Lt. Bullis and his men were scouting west of Fort McKavett when they ran across a band of Indians driving a herd of 300 stolen cattle. The soldiers immediately charged, causing the Indians to flee, leaving the cattle behind. A little while later, the Indians, who had joined up with the rest of their band, returned and attacked Lt. Bullis and his men. "Instead of running, Bullis and his buffalo soldiers attacked so furiously that the Indians, an estimated thirty strong, retreated." This allowed the five members of M Troop to bag an additional 200 head of stolen cattle.

"Lt. Bullis was cited for the extraordinary bravery of himself and his four soldiers. No one, however, saw fit even to record their names."

Kenner noted that in 1870, 40 members of the 8th Cavalry and 17 of the 1st Cavalry were given Medals of Honor for service against the Apaches in Arizona and New Mexico. "Almost all were simply for 'gallantry in action'," he said. During the Red River War of 1874-75, 25 white soldiers from the 4th and 6th Cavalry and the 5th Infantry regiments received the medal, while "not one black regular, cavalry or infantry, received one. Had similar liberality been shown blacks, there would have been dozens of buffalo soldiers carrying the medal by the end of the 1870s," Kenner said.

In fact, during the whole of the Indian Wars of the Western Frontier (roughly 1866 to 1890), out of 426 awards of the Medal, the 9th Cavalry received only 15 (11 enlisted and four officers) and the 10th Cavalry (the other "Buffalo Soldiers" cavalry regiment) received three. The 8th Cavalry racked up 89 awards of the Medal of Honor...most noted as simply "gallantry in action,"...the 6th Cavalry issued 51, and the 7th Cavalry got 42 (most at the Battle of the Little Big Horn).

During the whole of the Indian Wars, 1867-1890, a total of 44 Buffalo Soldiers (not including officers) were killed, of which 28 were killed during Apache Campaigns of 1879-1881.

(WARNING—SPOILER ALERT. The following has nothing to do with the 9th Cav. and is simply a note of interest...for those interested in this sort of thing.)

It should be noted that the Medal of Honor given out between the Civil War and World War I was not the Medal of Honor as we think of it today.

There is a general believe that the first medal for heroism was the Purple Heart, created by Gen. George Washington. It was not. It was a purple cloth heart, but called the Badge of Military Merit. It was awarded in 1783 and to only three men, all sergeants.

It was not intended as an award for being wounded in combat. In establishing the award, Washington wrote that it was for soldiers who exhibited, "not only instances of unusual gallantry in battle, but also extraordinary fidelity and essential service in any way."

The Badge of Military Merit fell into oblivion until 1932, when Gen. Douglas MacArthur, as Army Chief of Staff, pressured the Army into reviving it as the Purple Heart for wounds received in combat for soldiers who had been wounded in World War I.

However, in 1847 during the Mexican-American War, the Certificate of Merit was created for any soldier who distinguished himself in battle. This was literally a certificate, not a medal, and could only be awarded to privates. In 1854 the law was changed so that it could also be awarded to NCOs. It wasn't until 1905 that it was redesignated as the Certificate of Merit Medal and became a medal that a soldier could wear on his tunic.

The flaw was that it was awarded to any soldier who distinguished himself in battle and did not allow for different degrees of heroism. Like the current Bronze Star, it could be awarded for either meritorious service or courageous action.

So, early in the Civil War, the Medal of Honor was created to reward individual valor on the battlefield and differentiate between being really brave or being sort of brave or performing meritorious service.

The Army initially rejected the idea of such a medal on the grounds that "medals smacked of European affectation." The Navy, however, adopted the new medal and President Lincoln signed it into law on December 21, 1861. The Army finally adopted it on July 12, 1862.

But, again, there was no real differentiation between sort of brave and really, really brave. The Medal of Honor was given out so haphazardly that in 1916, out of 2,287 awards of the Medal of Honor, the military rescinded 900, almost 40 percent.

Another Sad Passing of a Great B Troop Warrior

From Jim Kurtz:

Forwarded with sadness. Al "D" DeFleron was one of the First Shift – those who trained together at Fort Benning, then rode the boat to Vietnam together to begin the exploits of the 1st Squadron, 9th Cavalry.

When the Bullwhip Squadron Association, formed by the First Shift in honor of the first squadron commander, decided to let "New Guys" join, Al was the first and foremost among the old guys to welcome us and make us feel like we were all part of the same Band of Brothers.

D, you are going to be missed, but we'll catch up with you in Fiddler's Green. Jim

Al "Big D" DeFleron B Troop 1965

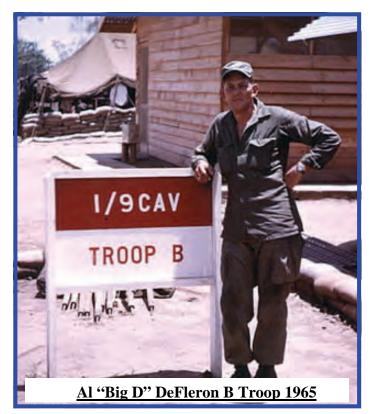

All

It is with extreme sadness that I report the death of MSG AL Defleron. He passed just after noon today, 5/24/11. He was the Secretary on the first Bullwhip Squadron Board for 12 years and ran the BWS store. He was a valuable asset to the Squadron and will be sorely missed by all who knew him.

We are losing many to the effects of Agent Orange, all to soon. May God give him peace and the glory of being with Him.

in Albuquerque, New Mexico

It is being hosted by Apache 29, Ron Livingston.

April 17, 2011

Fellow Apache Troopers,

! Here we are 4 months until the 2011 Albuquerque reunion and things continue moving along nicely. However, we need assistance from each of you to help make this a memorable reunion. As of today, we have received 44 questionnaires, many of which are from individuals who have seldom or never attended a reunion - this is exciting to know that the web has been cast widely. You are receiving this letter if we have received your completed questionnaire - thank you!

! As an important reminder, please be sure to make your hotel reservation at Hotel Albuquerque, as this is your responsibility. The reservation should be made under the "Apache Troop Reunion" at the rate of $81.00 per night (taxes not included). The phone number for the hotel is 505/843-6300 and hotel website: www.HotelABQ.com. The deadline to ensure this group rate is July 27, 2011.

! We do have many exciting events planned, however, most time will be free to do as you please as Albuquerque and the surrounding area provide much to do. We will have the Hospitality Suite and another meeting room reserved and open to provide a place for folks to sit and visit as often as needed. We know how valuable this "visiting time" can be and hope that you all will bring photos, albums and other memorabilia to share with others.

! We have confirmed the Osprey Aviation Tour at Kirtland AFB which is scheduled for Friday, August 19 from 0900-1300 and will visit the local Veteran's Memorial Park immediately following the tour. The tour will be at no cost but there will be a minimal cost for the transportation which will be figured out once the final participant number is determined. The KAFB tour should be exciting and the personnel on base are very excited to host such an incredible group of veteran's and their families.

! The banquet buffet dinner with cash bar is scheduled for Saturday, August 20th and will be held in the Alvarado Ballroom at the hotel. The Sunday morning breakfast August 21st is scheduled immediately following the memorial service at 9:00-11:00 and will be held in the Fireplace Room and adjoining patio. We will need a complete head count and payment in full for both events, no later than July 27, 2011. If you are confirmed to be attending either or both events, the cost will be:

- Buffet Dinner = $58.00 per person (young children = $20.00)
- Sunday Breakfast = 27.00 per person (young children = $15.00)

Please make checks payable to: "Apache Troop Reunion"

More info will be posted as we develop the plan and an update will be in the next newsletter to be mailed around 1 OCT. From the letter below you can see that we have the 1st Cavalry Division's support and that will make our Reunion an even better event for us all! Apache Red

Headquarters, 1st Cavalry Division Fort Hood, Texas 76544 April 15, 2011 Dear Joe Bowen. I'd like to express my heartfelt thanks for the invitation to your National Reunion. Please know that I will make every effort to attend this event and partake in the rich traditions of the Bullwhip Squadron. We look forward to sustaining the close relationship between the Bullwhip Association and Headhunters, along with the LongKnife BCT and the First Team. Thanks for your continued support of our Troopers and the Families of Fallen and Wounded Warriors-most recently for SGT Fierro. Our Division Rear Commander, COL Phil Battaglia, a former LongKnife 6, is aware of our correspondence; he is my point of contact while the headquarters is deployed for the next year. We are all committed to sustaining your legacy of service and mission success. God bless you and your family! FIRST TEAM! Major General, U.S. Army Commanding General
